User's Guide to the SIAC Rules 2016

On 1 August 2016, the sixth edition of the Arbitration Rules of the Singapore International Arbitration Centre (SIAC Rules 2016) came into effect. The SIAC Rules 2016 introduce a number of time and cost-saving procedures and market-leading innovations, including a new procedure for the early dismissal of claims and defences (the first of its kind amongst major institutional rules for commercial arbitration), new provisions to deal with disputes involving multiple parties, multiple contracts, consolidation, and joinder of additional parties, as well as further refinements to SIAC's popular emergency arbitrator and expedited arbitration special procedures.

As the first major international arbitral institution to incorporate an early dismissal procedure in its commercial arbitration rules, be the first to learn more about arbitration's proactive response to summary judgment and striking out procedures commonly found in litigation.

This User's Guide will provide practical insights and first-hand perspectives from experienced users of SIAC arbitration and those closest to the drafting process, with panel sessions on the following topics:

- Early Dismissal, Emergency Arbitrators and the Expedited Procedure: The Practitioner's New Arbitration Toolkit
- Multiplicity in Arbitration: Multi-Party and Multi-Contract Arbitrations under the SIAC Rules 2016

Mr Gary Born, President of the SIAC Court of Arbitration and one of the world's preeminent authorities on international arbitration, will open the programme with a keynote address titled "Emergency Arbitration: Recent Developments" and chair both panel sessions.
